Dear Parents/Carers,

We understand that this is a difficult time for all, under the current climate, and that remote learning is bringing its own challenges. As a school, we appreciate the support you are giving your child, with completing the work from home.

During these uncertain times, we continue to value our strong relationships with parents and carers, as working together helps us to achieve the very best for our children. These positive relationships are, and continue to be, built upon mutual respect between parents and staff.

As always, the staff at Plains Farm Academy are fully committed to supporting your child during the current lockdown, and are accountable to government guidelines and legislation, whether your child is learning remotely or learning within school. As part of this accountability, we are instructed as a school (through government guidance) to contact families to support with accessing learning. As a reminder of the Code of Conduct for Parents, we will not tolerate abusive behaviour from parents during such phone calls. We expect our staff to speak to parents in a respectful manner and would expect the same respect back from parents.

As a school, we are committed to resolving any difficulties in a constructive manner, through positive dialogue and it is through these good, working relationships between staff and parents that we gain the very best for our children, which is our utmost priority.

Thank you again for your continued support and for abiding by this code in our school.

Yours Sincerely,

Miss Cassidy
Head Teacher
